The town was still burning May 28, when the retugees started for Che-Foo. The Japanese had not appeared at Dainy up to that time. One junk which was leaving Dalny was sunk by bandits and fifty persons were drowned. The Chinese who have arrived here did not leave Dalny or Talien-Wan because they were afraid of the Russians or Japanese. They fled from the bandits who entered those towns.

CONTINUOUS FIGHTING ON THE PENINSULA

NIEU-CHWANG, May 31.-Refugees who continue to arrive here from the southern part of the Liao-Tung peninsula report daily fighting there and severe losses for both armies, but the reports are not confirmable officially. The Russians here are depending on the press bulletins for news from that vicinity.

The very highest Russian authority here, while not believing that Port Arthur will fall, admits that its loss would be a terrible blow to the Russian arms. The same auto the south of Nieu-Chwang in the event from the Yalu river and Taku-Shan. The Russians are not sanguine as to the outof war is arriving here. Two cargoes of flour and tinned meats and some specie were rushed to Mukden as soon as they were unloaded. Heavy rains are daily making the roads almost impassable. The Chinese brigands are becoming active.

NO MORE JAPANESE SHIPS SUNK AT PORT ARTHUR

TOKIO, May 31 .- Four gunboats, two destroyers and two torpedo boats sent to Port Arthur early on Monday morning by Vice Admiral Togo effected a careful reconnoissance, facing a heavy fire from the land batteries. They found a new Russian searchlight station and one or two new forts on the Liao-Tien-Shan promonotory. No. 3 gunboat was struck by a shell, which killed one petty officer, injured three men and damaged one of her guns. The other boats escaped without any damage.

John R. Platt Files Suit to Recover $685,000 from Mulatress Who Causes Murder.

IS RECALLED

NEW YORK, May 31 .- The murder several months ago of Andrew H. Green, known as the father of Greater New York and one of New York's most prominent public men, was recalled to-day when suit was brought by John R. Platt, aged eighty-three years, a retired merchant, against Hannah Elias, a mulatress, to recover certain real estate and money in banks, held in her name. Mr. Green's murderer, a negro named Williams, said his victim had interfered to separate him (Williams) and Hannah Elias. Williams was declared insane and sent to an asylum. He had annoyed Mr. Green for some time and Mr. Green had said he never saw the Who Purchased Two Chilean Cruisers, Probably woman Williams referred to. In the papers filed Mr. Platt says that he first met Hannah Elias prior to January, 1896, that she represented herself to be a single woman of Spanish blood, but that he discovered afterward that she was the wife of one Matthew Davis. The papers go on to say that soon after Mr. Platt formed her acquaintance she told him that he had gained her love. Mr. Platt says that these protestations of love were a scheme on her part to enable her to coerce and blackmail him into giving her large sums of money. The plaintiff states that he paid Mrs. Elias $685,000 at different times between the years 1896 and 1904.

Mr. Platt demands an accounting of all the moneys which he alleged Mrs. Elias nas wrongfully obtained; that the real estate and bank accounts be impressed; that the defendants be restrained from dis-Japanese infantry, in order to turn our left flank, was stopped by the fire of our battery, which inflicted considerable loss on the enemy. WINTER WHEAT CROP IS MAKING GOOD PROGRESS

In Ohio Valley Condition of Crop Continues Poor-Much Replanting of Corn Is Required.

WASHINGTON, May 31 .- The weekly summary of crop conditions issued by the weather bureau to-day is as follows:

upper Mississippi valleys, where the early eight years of age lost her life. ature of the week ending May 30 was favorable in all districts and especially to in the west Gulf States.

Oklahoma and portions of Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Ohio and Pennsylvania have suffered to some extent from excessive moisture, while drought continues over a large part of the south Atlantic and east Gulf States.

central Rocky mountain slope. frosts occurred in Wisconsin and heavy the eastern portions of Oregon and Washington. Continued northerly winds caused ensiderable damage to fruit and possibly njured grain in California. Rain is generally needed on the north Pacific coast. Except in the more northerly sections, where corn planting is much delayed, this work has progressed under favorable conditions, but the reports indicate that a large amount of replanting will be necessary throughout the central valleys and Lake region, due in part to poor seed. Cutworms are causing much damage in the Ohio valley and middle Atlantic States. A general improvement is indicated in the Southern States, where the crop is largely laid by, having reached the earing stage in the west Gulf States.

A general improvement in the condition of winter wheat is indicated in the principal wheat States, but the condition of the crop continues very poor in the Ohio valley. Harvest is in progress in the Southern States. On the north Pacific coast winter wheat has done well, except in portions of eastern Washington, where it has been injured somewhat by frosts. In California ably sustained injury by dessicating winds. Early sown spring wheat is growing nicely, and the general outlook for this crop in the spring wheat region is promising. Some fields in South Dakota, however, are weedy and the late sown in North Dakota has, not germinated well. On the north Pacific coast early spring wheat is doing well, but rain is needed for the late sown.

Nearly all reports respecting oats indicate that this crop has made very favorable progress. Early oats are heading as far north as the central Mississippi valley and the southern portion of the middle Atlantic States. Harvesting continues in

Although cotton continues small, a general improvement in its condition is indicated, especially in the central and western districts, where rains have been well distributed and generally ample. The least favorable reports are received from Georgia, Florida and portions of South Carolina, where drought continues. Lice are not so generally reported in the central and eastern districts as in the previous week, except in Georgia, but boll weevils continue to increase in the Southwest and central cotton counties of Texas. As a rule the crop is well cultivated. Tobacco transplanting has progressed slowly in Kentucky, Virginia and North Carolina, and this work awaits rain in Maryland, Pennsylvania and Tennessee.

The reports respecting apples received from the central Mississippi and Ohio valleys are somewhat less encouraging, but from the middle Atlantic States, New England and the upper lake region the reports are more favorable. In the east Gulf States a good crop of peaches is promised. but elsewhere the outlook is poor.

Mrs. Finley and a friend occupied rooms n the Granite block, at Fifteenth and Larimer streets. She recently brought the girls to Denver from Cripple Creek, where they had done a song-and-dance act at the Palm Theater. Previous to their showing in Cripple Creek they had been in Leadville at the Crawford. Mrs. Finley admitted this afternoon that the girls had been giving six performances each day, and that this was more than she herself could do. She has not been employed of late, and the Humane Society has been informed that she has been leading a life which would not entitle her to the custody of the children. Her husband deserted her a year ago and is now in Oklahoma.

MEDICAL INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS IS DISCUSSED

siders Vital Question and Hears Paper by Dr. Bell.

BUREAU ISSUES A REPORT FOSTER MOTHER SILENT WANT IMMEDIATE ACTION

Medical inspection for the public schools of Indianapolis was the main question disclosed to the police a strange case of brought up before the meeting of the Inconsequence, and advised that measures be taken promptly to insure such inspection. Although no definite methods were agreed on, their relative practicability were thoroughly discussed.

> The leading paper of the evening was read by Dr. Guido Bell, who took for his subject "The Physician and the Public School." His discussion of the question was along abstract rather than concrete lines. He presented the question from a physiological and psychological standpoint, and defined a basis on which definite arrangements for the inspection may be made. In part he

Of all public institutions of which Amercans are justly proud, our system of public schools ranks first. The public schools have for their aim, primarily, mental development-even manual training has this design. Good school training requires that body and mind shall go hand in hand with their development. Therefore, the pupil requires care in both directions, if the development

"The excellence of a teacher is judged by the skill his pupils have gained under his guidance. This suffices for the casual observer. An experienced school man, however, lays more weight on the physical well being, the mental zest and developing character evinced by his pupils.
"Taking this general scientific point of view, I speak of schools not as they are, Children are sent to school too early. At not unwise, therefore, to engage older, exaccordingly "In the training of the young there are three fundamental truths to be observed. The first law of education is proper struction. Dr. Bell explained the various ailments d which youth is subject in school years. "Children are sometimes regarded as ockward in their studies," Often physical defects cause this backwardness. As soon as the physical evil is removed they become tractable and apt pupils. The first class of diseases, then, is are the contagious ones, and the third are the real school diseases—those for which the confinement of the schoolroom is responsible. Under this head we name curvature of the spine and nearsightedness. To avoid these evils one must give much attention to the school seats and to the light in the

In conclusion Dr. Bell recommended that the physician should play an active part in the superintendency of a school. He argued that there were many phases of school life which necessitated a doctor's attention. "The regulation of the hours of study, and the studies taken up in those hours should be made by a physician," he said. The discussion which followed was participated in by Dr. Frank Foxworthy, Dr. A. W. Brayton and Dr. W. N. Hurty, This discussion was a consideration of the question in the concrete sense, and the advisability of several methods was taken up. The high standing of Indianapolis schools was mentioned, and the doctors wished that this standard might be lifted by a medical inspection. The inspection of schools in Chicago was deemed the best in the coun-

. It was very generally conceded that it was not wise to ask physicians to render their services without pay. It was intimated that the medical inspection which has lately been introduced in New York has not cost the city as much as the coffins of paupers would have cost. A thorough inspection of the pupil, the teacher, the building and the books was recommended. The great danger of a teacher's spreading some malignant form of disease among her pupils was referred to and instances of such a calamity were cited.

The general opinion of the doctors who had listened to the discussion was that the essential value of medical inspection of our schools was self-evident and that the time was ripe for the introduction of such inspection. They said that it was one of the vital questions, and one which demanded immediate action.
